Any gripes, kudos, or ideas? Call 378-9136 to sound off.

I'm a bicyclist and I use to avoid Campbell avenue like the plague. Now, with it one-way down there, I go their all the time and shop in stores I never knew existed. Its no problem for me and I disagree with that other bicyclist (who said its too dangerous now). There isn't so much stop and go traffic anymore and that's dangerous for bicyclists.

I looked and looked in last week's paper but I couldn't find any pictures of the city's birthday card contest winners. I'd have thought the local paper would at least have had them.

A Parent

Editor's note: this was the second call and if you'll turn to page 5 you'll see them. We had a photographer covering the birthday celebration but couldn't get the pictures back in time for last week's edition.

I think it's atrocious if the state can dictate to the city what businesses it can and cannot regulate. Your article (Council's hands tied) states they MUST give approval for that care home in a residential neighborhood. That's not right and I think our city should protest.

Local Control

Editor's note: What the state law says is that cities may not impose more stringent conditions on a residential care home than it already does on surrounding property; in this case R-1 homes.

I, for one, wouldn't object to having a home for the mentally retarded in my neighborhood. One of my relatives is retarded and I just wish my own children were as sweet and well behaved.

Young Mother

Just a question. Will our water bill go up now that we're all cutting back on use? In other areas this is what's happened.

Curious

Editor's note: According to a spokesman for the Campbell Water Company (privately owned) it won't. Unless mandatory water rationing is imposed in this area private water companies may not apply to get rate increases to cover their loss of revenues. And all requests go before the Public Utilities Commission.

City takes county to task

By PAT SAFFORD

CAMPBELL HAS taken the county Board of Supervisors to task for allocating a sizeable share of a recent windfall in federal funds for county study projects and then passing on the balance to the cities.

Of the $500,000 additional federal housing and community development (HCD) funds the county was notified they'll receive in July, a total of $192,000 was budgeted by supervisors before passing the rest onto cities, including Campbell. Local share was $94,700.

In a pointed letter to Chairman Geraldine Steinberg last week Mayor Bill Podgorsek took exception to that action.

Under a contract adopted in late 1975 between the smaller cities and the county, HCD funds were to be collected by the county and turned over to the cities for use in both city and unincorporated county areas within each city's sphere of influence. The county's only share was to be administrative costs to file for funding. But that agreement was unilaterally changed, Campbell officials charge.

IN ORDER TO be considered an "entitlement" city, for HCD funding, cities must have a population of 50,000 or more, so the contract was vital in making sure non-entitlement cities, such as Campbell, Los Gatos, Cupertino and Milpitas got their fair HCD share.

Two weeks ago supervisors gave final approval to plans to use $50,000 for a fair housing study, $48,000 for the Architectural Barriers Removal Program and $52,000 for the Needs Assessment Project.

The barrier removal program funding had been planned earlier but the other three projects came as a surprise to city officials when the windfall of unexpected funds were announced at the Jan. 24 meeting. At that hearing representatives from the Midpeninsula Citizens for Fair Housing urged supervisors to fund a county fair housing effort. And they were evidently very persuasive.

AT LEAST one supervisor wasn't happy with the board's action in January. Supervisor Sig Sanchez voted against the proposal stating he felt the fair housing request should have been made at the city level, unless the county was changing its policy. And that, if requests were to be considered, a future date should be set to allow other groups to request funds. His objections were evidently satisfied at the final hearing two weeks ago because the vote on the $192,000 in funding was unanimous.

Supervisor Rod Diridon, commenting on the county action last week, said he feels there's just a misunderstanding. First, the additional $500,000 (boosting the HCD total to over $3 million) came about as a result of a population increase within the unincorporated areas. Second, Diridon said, those funds for studies were needed to insure the continued receipt of HCD funds.

BUT LOCAL observers don't agree. First, many of the studies funded are already planned or underway in the cities; many with HCD funding. And second, since the cities used HCD money for both city and surrounding county areas, the needs of those in the unincorporated areas were being met (a recent example is the Campbell HCD project involving Sunnyoaks street improvements).

Shortly after the board took action in January the association of city managers sent a sharp letter to supervisors asking that they be informed in the future before any HCD funding is made. They also took exception to the apparent change in policy.

Funds for semi-mall

A face-lift for downtown

By PAT SAFFORD

IN A SURPRISE move last Monday councilmen decided to use the city's windfall of federal funds to help give downtown Campbell a face-lift. The Council voted unanimously to allocate the entire $94,700 to help fund a semi-mall, including planter boxes, a meandering one-lane street and diagonal parking. Originally the city was informed it would receive an additional, unexpected $105,000 in federal housing and community development (HUD) funding this July 1. But that figure has since been reduced (see related story).

It was nearing 1 a.m. when the Council acted on the motion by Councilman Norm Paul. And that action took observors and staff by surprise, as city officials and many downtown property owners have been locked in dispute for months over the downtown parking district.

"THE ENTIRE STAFF was taken aback," noted Public Works Director Joe Elliott.

Mayor Bill Podgorsek explained. "We've been accused of not helping them (downtown business people). I feel we have to do our part. And now they've got to spend something too."

That "something" would logically be going forward with the off-street parking district. Still to be obtained from owners are easement rights for parcels to be included in the district without cost. As of last Friday city staffers had not been able to collect any signatures.

"There goes our lighted softball field," one staffer commented when told of the semi-mall funding. A lighted field for John D. Morgan Park was one of several suggestions by city commissions on possible uses for the windfall. Earlier, the Council had asked commissions for their recommendations.

ACCORDING TO Engineering Manager Bill Helms the HCD funding won't cover the entire cost of refurbishing downtown streets, estimated at $150,000. But it will allow a giant first step in that direction. Along with the semi-mall the city will be requesting that utilities be undergrounded as soon as "credits" accumulated through Pacific Gas and Electric have built up to the estimated $500,000 needed for the job. Staff estimates that will be in the 1978-79 fiscal year.

But don't expect to see any immediate changes along downtown Campbell avenue. Right now city staffers are working full-time on getting the north loop street project underway. According to Elliott, his department hopes to get started on some preliminary work early this summer.

Easter egg hunt this Saturday

This bunny speaks the universal language among children. Easter Bunny (Kay Hofer) promises much more of the same at the second annual Campbell Easter Egg Hunt this Saturday, April 9 at John D. Morgan Park. Four-year-old Kristi Conners and Steven Grover, 3½, show rapt attention as they learn of the candy and prizes for youngsters from toddlers through 10 years this weekend. Hunt time is at 10:30 a.m. and an hour earlier that morning an Easter Bonnet Parade is planned for all ages. Call 378-8141 weekdays for more information.

Downtown change

Street plans get the go ahead

THE NEW street plan, including a cul-de-sac on Central ave. and one, east bound lane on Campbell ave., got the official nod from city councilmen last week.

Before they took action several downtown business people gave their opinion about the change. Most were opposed. Basic disagreement was over plans to convert Campbell avenue, between Third st. and Railway ave. into one-way traffic. Business owners said they prefer two-way.

Property owner Bob Raffanti told councilmen that plans for downtown Campbell shouldn't be compared to the mall in Santa Cruz. "Santa Cruz is a success," he said, "but it took about five years. And also don't forget that the other streets are two-ways." He asked the Council to give two-way traffic a try. "If we once have one-way can we ever go back to two-way?" he asked.

COUNCILMEN and staff countered that, in order to keep the east end of the street open (rather than closing it off as originally planned), there can only be a one lane-one-way crossing at the railroad tracks on Campbell.

Business owner June Terhune had other reasons.

"What is there in downtown Campbell to bring anyone down there?" she declared. There's no drug store, no grocery store, not even a coffee shop, the businesswoman added. "We can't put up big signs (to attract customers)," she said, "and none of you have thought about the poor old Factory (and how closing off Central ave. will affect it)." Terhune was one of several downtown merchants who liked the old congestion along Campbell ave. "I don't care if those people ever get home or not," she said of the motorists, "just so they (go by) and see my store."

The street changes will be tied in with north loop construction.

EARLIER COUNCILMAN Rusty Hammer voiced concern over making an abrupt change in Central ave., from a thoroughfare to a dead end street. He suggested that perhaps islands could be installed prohibiting all but right-turn traffic from Central onto Campbell ave. as a way of getting motorists used to taking a different route. After discussion, the Council decided to make all the changes at the same time.

Central ave. will dead end just beyond the library and police department parking lots in the future, with open space with turf and trees replacing the street between city Hall and the Campbell library. Traffic coming from Highway 17 will be routed down Salmar to Harrison and those who are now taking Central ave. as a shortcut to points south and east will be routed to either Bascom on the newly refurbished Winchester intersection.

Talent needed for July 4th

If you can play the fiddle, do a disappearing act or give a rousing rendition of "The Hustle", the annual Fourth of July entertainment committee is looking for you.

According to Chairman Ken Podgorsek, three acts are needed to round out this year's day-long stage entertainment at John Morgan Park. These include: a rock band, magician and a blue grass group.

All entertainers donate their services.

Call Ken at 378-2855 after 3 p.m. for more information.

Taxes net $200,000 for city

Campbell received $200,607 recently as its March allocation of sales and use tax receipts.

That compares with $215,000 for the city of Cupertino, $132,000 for Los Gatos and $100,000 for Milpitas.

At the same time the local sales tax used for the county transit system brought in $1.5 million.

Easements needed

Parking district hangs in the balance

IF THE DOWNTOWN parking district goes down the tubes, which appeared likely last week, the city stands to lose some $100,000 plus uncounted amounts of staff time on the project.

Last month the City Council voted to proceed with the district, overriding protests, but that was a delaying action. The district hinges on the city's ability to obtain easements on part of the downtown property needed for parking. Of the approximately 500 spaces in the district, 350 are now privately owned.

The $1.5 million project has been the source of heated discussion since before the local improvement district petition was filed with the city in August of 1975. Original plans called for purchasing all land outright for the district, but that was modified when property owners declared the cost was too high. Along with signing the petition downtown people also added a "fail safe" figure of $1.9 million so if costs went over that the district would be dissolved.

WHEN ORIGINALLY presented to owners, the modified district costs were estimated at about 5 cents per square foot of selling or business spaces. By the time the engineer's estimate came through the cost in some areas had climbed back to the 8 cent level. And that was the main reason downtown people turned out in force March 14 to protest the district going ahead. Many claimed the parking assessments would force them out of business.

Favoring the district was The Factory, which represents the largest single share, The Bodega and a couple of other small business owners. The rest are opposed.

Officially 42.8 per cent registered protests, leaving over half in favor of the district. But percentages are figured on assessed value of the land area and in numbers the vote would have been more like 30 to 4 opposed. That method of figuring also came in for criticism by one downtown merchant who wanted to know why The Factory represents 44 per cent of the district, yet will be paying 10 per cent of the cost.

THE CITY undertook the cost of preliminary work on the parking district, which was to be repaid out of district assessments. If the project is scuttled, the city picks up the tab. Also, in recent months city staffers have devoted hundreds of hours to the parking district, which adds up to another substantial cost.

If 25 year, no-cost easements, aren't obtained for the district, the Council has two choices Monday night. Either drop the petition, or revamp the project, including all land areas, and put it back out to bid. The latter approach though, was expected to result in a total cost over the "fail safe" figure.

AND IF THE district doesn't proceed the downtown owners have two options; forming their own district, or making use of existing parking. The latter is clearly unfeasible to owners of The Bodega and The Factory. Both lost substantial parking to the south loop street construction.

AT THE LAST council session Factory Manager Russ Farkouh indicated that shopping center intends to hold the city to an earlier agreement. According to Farkouh, the city asked The Factory to join the parking district and, in return, guaranteed the return of the 35 lost parking spaces through the district, or from the city. The closure of S. Central ave. has brought that shopping center 10 additional spaces but its still 25 short.

Last week Farkouh indicated he's recommending legal action against the city if the parking district fails.

On Friday Public Works staffers were still out trying to obtain signatures on easement rights. But, so far, there weren't any takers.

Jail record?

Form queries cause a flap in Campbell

CRITICISM has been leveled at a new form used by Economic and Social Opportunities, Inc., (ESO) since its debut last fall.

But things came to a head here recently when those taking part in the free public blood pressure check-up at the Campbell Progressive Senior center were later called and asked personal questions by a staffer. These questions included data on annual income, career objectives and "incarceration history.

ESO Executive Director Richard Rios said last week the forms have clearly been used incorrectly in Campbell and, "immediate steps are being taken to correct the situation." ESO, which this year had a budget of $3 million from federal, state and local sources, operates programs aimed at helping low income people and ethnic minorities in the county. The Campbell senior center is partially funded by ESO.

REACTION FROM local seniors was swift late last year when they were asked to fill out the 22-question form. Those queried were using an ESO-sponsored bus for transportation to the local Senior Nutrition site. Some of the elderly were angered at the personal nature of the questions and said they'd rather drop the bus service than fill out the form.

Community Services Coordinator Barbara Harison said she called ESO headquarters when she heard of the complaints. "I kind of raised a fuss," she commented. ESO's response, she said, was to tell seniors to just forget the forms.

Mary Davey, ESO administrative assistant, said last week the forms were intended as part of a new Management Information System, "so we can better serve the clients." Staffers were to interview new clients only (and not hand out the forms) and to ask specific questions, not the entire list. "The information is held in the strictest confidence," Davey added. Information collected goes into a data bank at ESO headquarters.

COUNCILMAN RUSTY Hammer, who is also chairman of the ESO board, said last Friday he feels the possible misuse of forms in strictly a management problem. The intake form, designed to cover all ESO programs, includes many questions not applicable to clients, he said.

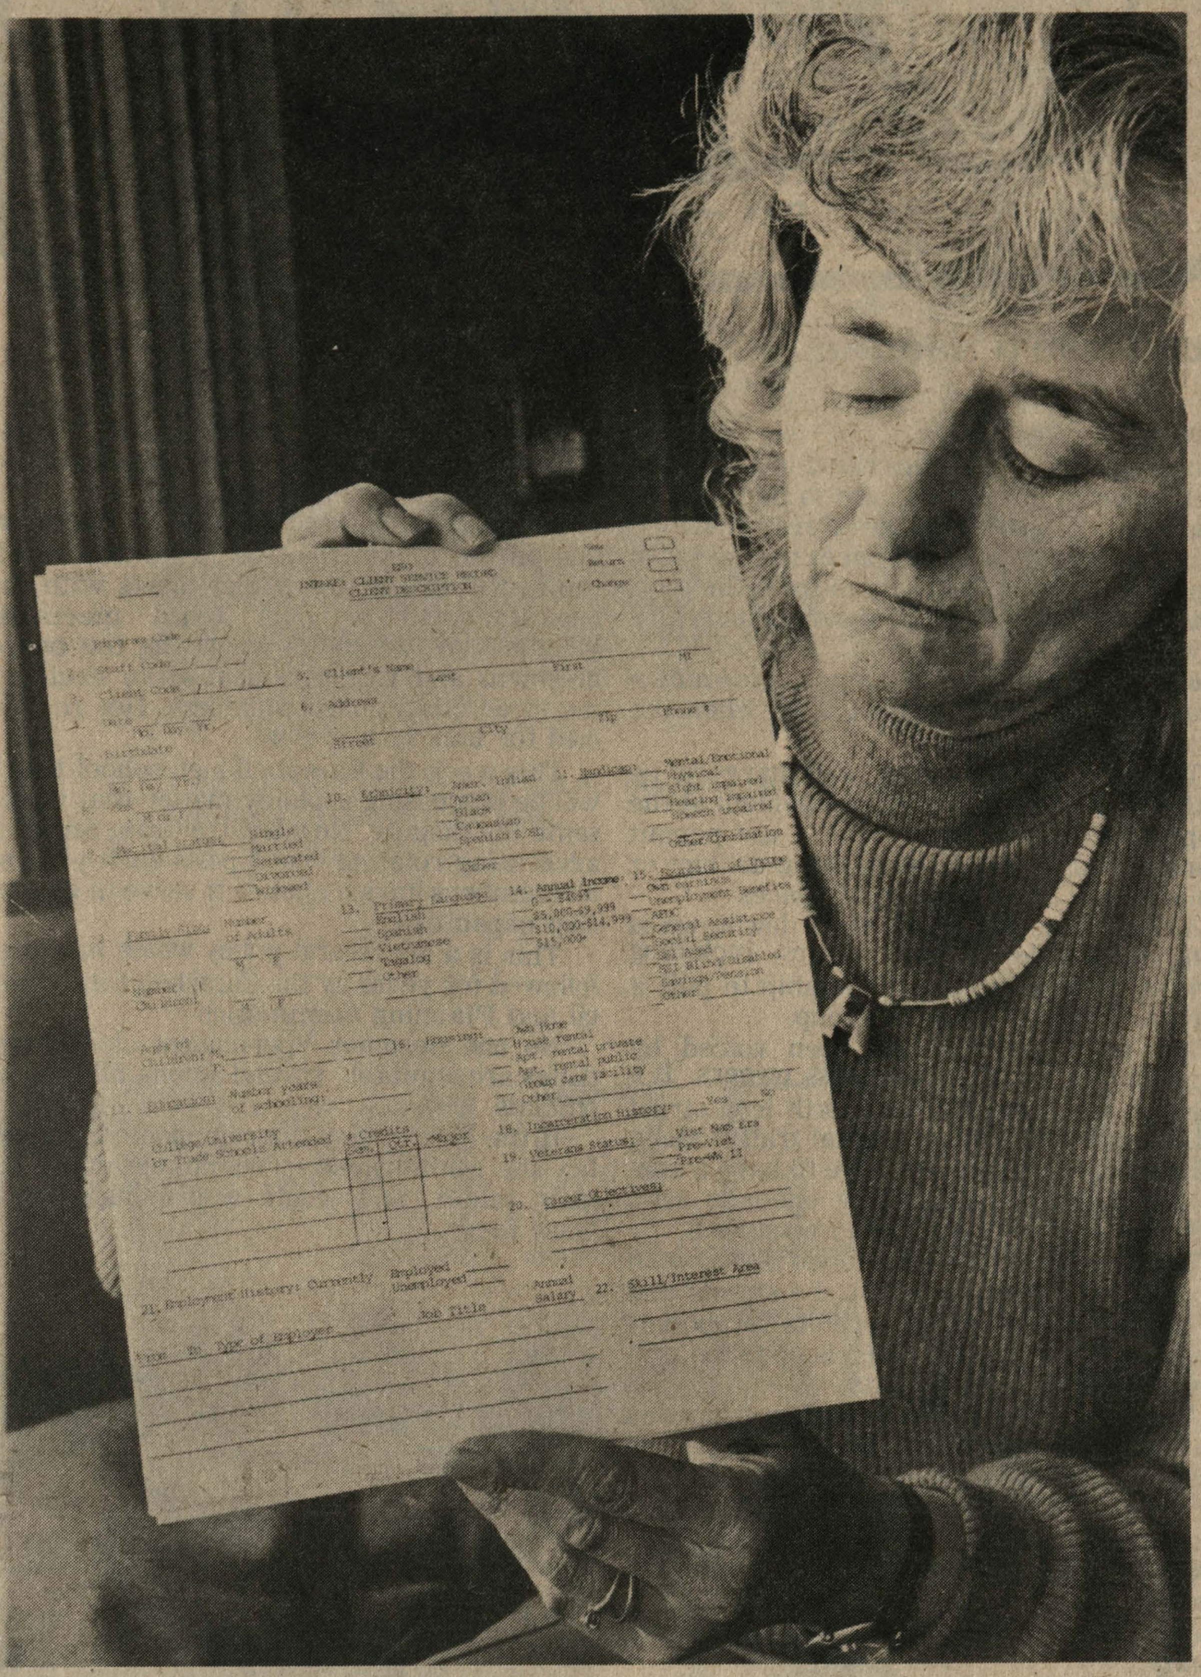
"We fund 20 programs in the county," Hammer explained, "so we didn't need 20 different (forms."

But somewhere between the original plan, and its field application, something got changed. Like asking those getting a blood pressure check about their education, employment history and marital status. Or checking with a needy senior citizen to see if she's ever been arrested.

THE INCARCERATION question, Davey explained, was designed for clients getting help through the reentry program for felons. Not for seniors using transportation services or a family seeking an emergency food supply.

The sole purpose of the form, she explained, is to enable ESO to make sure they're serving the people they're supposed to. And no one has to answer any questions to get help either. Its strictly voluntary.

So, if you apply for help and you're asked for your age (after celebrating your 39th birthday for the past 11 years) you can just tell them to sit on it.



ONE OF those who has taken sharp exception to a new ESO form is Jeannette Watson, chairman of the Campbell Civic Improvement Commission. The forms have been used at the local senior center, among other places, and questions are of a highly personal nature. "Just for a ride you've got to ask if they've been incarcerated?," she asked last week. (Seniors using the transportation service were asked to fill out the form). ESO spokesmen were quick to rebut the criticism. They say the forms were strictly for their records and were not to be distributed. Also, most questions didn't have to be asked since the form is designed to cover 20 ESO programs.

Teamsters file

Agreement reached in teacher salary talks

WHILE CAMPBELL elementary teachers voted decisively last week to accept the school board's salary proposal, Teamsters Union local 911 filed for an election in the local district.

Last Thursday night the vote was 188 to 70 to accept the board's offer of a 4 per cent raise retroactive to August of last year. The contract ends June 30, 1977. School trustees are expected to ratify that agreement at their April 14 meeting.

Teamster officials were a little ahead of their schedule last Wednesday as they filed for an election in the district to see who will be the official representative for certificated staff.

According to Director A. Dotson-Bennett, the union now has commitments from about 180 local teachers, with new signers being added at the rate of about 10 a week. The decision to file, he explained, was done to protect the teachers' right to an election.

THE CAMPBELL Elementary Teachers Association (CETA), now the official bargaining agents for teachers, may have some disagreement with the teamster move.

According to President Phil Short, since the union filed before the agreement was ratified by both parties, Teamsters will have to refile.

The involved process of calling for an election (which only requires the signatures of 30 per cent or more of the 390 certificated staff) and certifying the results could drag on for months in the Campbell district.

If local teachers opt for the Teamsters it will become the second teacher group to be represented in the country, and the largest. Surprise Valley, California, where Local 911 won the right to bargain early this year, has a total of about 16 teachers, according to Bennett.

AT THE CETA meeting last Thursday, teacher leaders recommended that the dispute be put into fact finding. But teachers went against that recommendation by a large majority. "The teachers didn't trust fact finding," Short explained, "since the Board has the final say." Even if an independent study shows the local district is in error on an issue, the board is not required to accept the recommendation of the fact finder.

Short says the growing strength of the Teamsters union can be attributed to the frustration by teachers. "I'm fed up with the way teachers have been treated in this district too," he added.

Short doesn't feel the 180 card signers represent Teamster votes if an election is called, just the desire to have an election.

Leadership needed

With the outlook dim for successfully launching the downtown parking district next week, several questions come to mind.

- What happens to The Factory which earlier gave up 35 parking spaces for the south loop street and got 10 in return from the city.
- How will downtown take care of its future parking needs?
- What can be done to keep our downtown area from becoming a ghost town when the north loop street opens?

The first question may well have to be settled in the courts, since management at the shopping center say they have a use permit which promises either the parking district or replacement of those missing spaces.

As for the second question; if downtown is going to handle its own affairs, including parking, it needs strong leadership to pull it together into one cohesive group.

The third problem has been voiced by many people, including business owners. It's true that the opening of the north loop street will result in little if any casual traffic along Campbell ave. People will have to have a reason for taking a meandering one-lane road when they can zip by using the loop streets.

The City Council took a needed first step in allocating $94,700 to fixing up the streets and by committing its PG&E credits for underground utilities. The next step is up to the property owners and merchants.

A wide variety of businesses are needed downtown to attract more shoppers. And one way to help attract these businesses is to make our central business district an attractive place to shop.

It won't happen overnight. And it will take funding.

And it's up to the downtown business community.

Try rotation

Trustee Jennie Vaughn brought up a point at the last Campbell elementary school board meeting that warrants discussion.

She advocated having board members rotate on the administrative committee so all can serve on the group that meets with the Superintendent to plan board meetings. Vaughn says the policy of having the board president and vice president serve excludes the three other board members. Her motion died for lack of a second.

This week the Campbell high school board will be discussing a policy matter that would settle the dispute. New trustee Craig Smith is advocating rotating board posts each year so all members have a chance to serve in leadership capacities.

This is a successful policy which has been followed for years by the Campbell City Council and Planning Commission.

No one becomes "permanent chief" and duties are equitably spread among all elected officials.

If the elementary district adopted this policy the administrative committee could remain intact, and would also include some "new faces."

EQUAL HOUSING LENDER

We hear you

I'm curious about one thing. In other areas you see cities posting signs showing the way to their big shopping areas but not in Campbell. For instance, there're no signs along Highway 17 showing the way to the PruneYard or to The Factory. They don't have to be big. Just a tiny sign showing, for instance, "right" to the PruneYard and "left" to The Factory.

One Man's Opinion

I heard that the skating rink planned next to Morgan Park won't be built after all. What happened?

Skate Fan

Editor's note: There have been many delays in that development for an ice and roller rink but, according to Planning Department staff they've received another request for a six month continuance so plans haven't been dropped.

We really need a skateboard (facility) in Campbell and I'm one of those that signed a petition to the City Council. How do we get one?

Sidewalk Surfer

Editor's note: First, your petition was referred by the Council to the Youth Advisory Commission for comment. But you will be happy to learn that a firm interested in building a large skateboard park in Campbell has been in touch with city, chamber and newspaper people for some time. At last word several more calls have come into the Planning Department requesting more information on how to file a request so, one of these days, you should be reading about plans for a giant facility similar to ones you've read about in southern California.

I think the idea to close off Central avenue is dumb. So what if people use that for a shortcut? With the city offices and the library located on Central it sounds like the city wasn't planning to keep it a residential neighborhood anyway.

OPPOSED

I'd like to know what happened to the asphalt walkway the Council approved for old Camden road way back last year. At the time they said it should be done before the end of the year and here it is March and it's still a mess.

MUDDY FEET

Editor's note: According to Assistant Civil Engineer Dave Valkenaar, that project was delayed because the city learned they'll receive some federal funds to cover the cost, instead of using the $10,000 in federal revenue sharing as originally planned. And with the estimated $19,000 they'll receive, Valkenaar says the City will be able to put in permanent curbs, gutters and sidewalks on old Camden instead of the temporary asphalt. These funds can also be used to put in sidewalks at two other locations, he added; Virginia avenue (from Capri drive to Hacienda) and on Eden avenue (near Rosemary). The funding is earmarked for providing pedestrian safety, particularly for seniors and schoolage children.

In future years shoppers in downtown Campbell will be able to take a leisurely stroll along a meandering sidewalk banked by flower beds. Diagonal parking will replace the present parallel spots and traffic will be strictly one lane, one way.

"Something for Joey" is a true story of courage, compassion and love between two brothers.

In 1973, while John Cappelletti was winning the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player in America, his younger brother Joey was suffering from leukemia.

But John, now a running back for the Los Angeles Rams, had a very special medicine for Joey. It was called touchdowns. And John scored them in bunches because they were "Something for Joey."

The story of the Cappelletti family is the kind of television you will long remember.

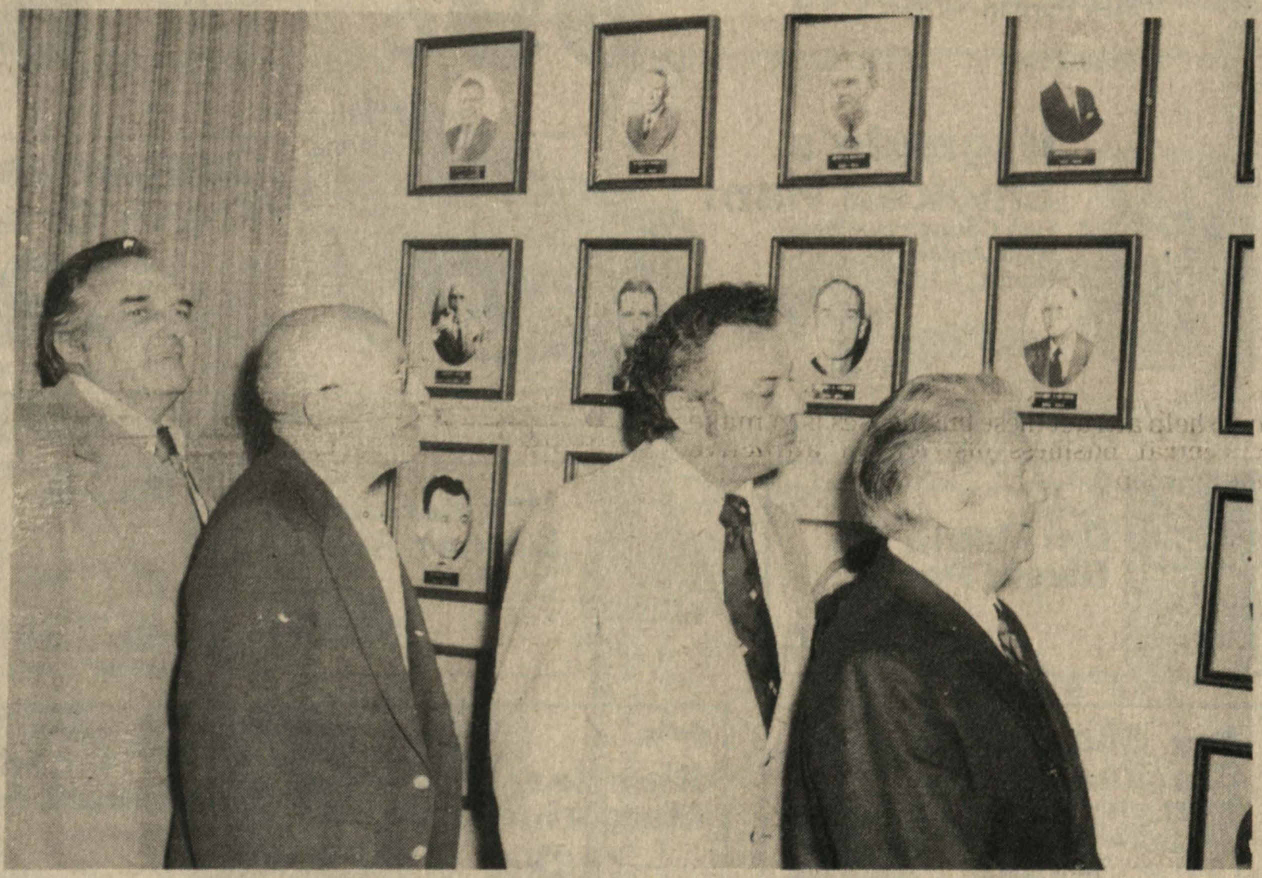
25th birthday festivities

The whole city was invited to gala event

Top winners in the Birthday Card Contest got to blow out the candles on the giant cake baked by West Valley College food service classes.

Little Dana Larson tried out the Mayor's chair at last week's big birthday bash at City Hall.

One young visitor to City Hall last Monday was Andy Kotowski, shown chatting with Nona Singleterry in the finance department.



Four former councilmen, plus the four now in office, were on hand during the 25th birthday festivities to view the unveiling of pictures of past and present city officials. From left, John M. Chargin (1954-58), Charles Rose (1954-58 and 1960-64), William S. Smeed (1964-1972) and Edward J. Rogers (1960-1972). A total of 24 councilmen have served the city so far in its history.

A popular attraction at City Hall last week was the exhibit by Campbell paramedics. Above Randy Whiteside tries out some equipment as Paramedics Ray Rivero and George Renshaw look on.

Mandatory restitution in new crime compensation bill

SENATOR JERRY SMITH (D-San Jose) last week introduced legislation which would more adequately compensate persons seriously injured as a result of a crime of violence, and therefore, least able to bear the cost of their injuries, and for the first time in California law would provide mandatory restitution as one of the penalties for the commission of an act of violence.

"It is time," said Senator Smith, "for this state to demonstrate as intense a concern for the forgotten victims of violent crimes as it so justifiably and humanely does for those accused of crimes."

THE BILL, coauthored by a number of legislators, contains three central elements and is designed to facilitate a more complete system of effecting compensation on behalf of the victims of a crime in which physical injury or death results.

- The proposed legislation will double the existing $10,000 ceiling on cash payment authorizations available to qualifying victims for medical expenses and wage or support loss.
- It would impose upon every defendant convicted of a crime of violence and having the present ability to pay, a fine of not less than $10, but not to exceed $10,000 to be paid to the state indemnity fund.
- Finally, the bill would require that judicial authorities consider victim restitution as a condition of probation or parole, where economically feasible.

SMITH, in seeking support of this bill, said, "I am aware of the pervasive feeling among my own constituents, as well as the public at large, that the billion dollar law enforcement and criminal justice program in the state, while ever-vigilant toward meeting the needs of the criminal, ignores the devastating plight of the victims of violent crimes. I have introduced this bill with the intent to provide a responsive and reasoned approach to this urgent public concern."

Among the coauthors are local assemblymen Alister McAlister and John Vasconcellos.

Cancer's warning signals can be your safety signals. Know them. Heed them. By seeing your doctor. The American Cancer Society says that a signal is just that. It doesn't mean you have cancer. But it should send you to the man who can tell you.

Isn't it about time?

For your regular health checkup. Even if you feel fine. Because it's great to hear from the doctor that you are as fine as you feel. And if there is anything suspicious, time is on your side. Detected early, and treated promptly, many cancers are curable. Don't delay. It's time to make that appointment—right now.

Many More Happy Birthdays

According to American Cancer Society statistics, there are 1,500,000 Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer—free of the disease 5 years after diagnosis and treatment. This underscores the importance of regular health checkups for the early detection and prompt treatment of cancer.

If you're feeling very well
Or if you're feeling queerly,
If it's living you want most,
Have a checkup yearly—says the American Cancer Society.

Cynthia in Paris for spring vacation

For the second year in a row a local student has been one of the 17 national winners in the Foreign Study League's essay contest on, "What I can learn from a visit to Europe."

Last Friday Cynthia Gutierez, a Camden high school student, left on an all-expenses paid 11-day European holiday which includes stops in London, Amsterdam and Paris. Last year a Leigh High School coed was a winner.

Along with a magazine sales promotion, students were able to enter the contest by penning essays of 25 words or less.

Cynthia's winning prose was; "To see, to learn, to reach out, to understand, to broaden my knowledge of the world around me, my world and everyone's world, to experience."

The winner lives at 14589 S. Bascom ave., Los Gatos.

CONGRATULATING the local winner in a national essay contest, Cynthia Gutierez of Campbell high, are, from left, Ron Reynolds, representing QSO, Inc. a subsidiary of the Reader's Digest Association, Principal Jim Crawford, and Trustee Steve Tedesco of the Campbell Union High School District.

Peter tells why things always go wrong . go wrong. go . . wrong . . .

Satirist Dr. Laurence J. Peter, author of "The Peter Principle," will be at West Valley College on Wednesday, April 27 to explain, "Why Things Always Go Wrong." His talk begins at 8 p.m. in the Saratoga campus gymnasium.

The author's basic premise is that people, in business, industry, education and government, tend to be promoted until they reach their level of incompetency at which point they aren't considered for higher jobs. This leaves many of our institutions in the hands of incompetents, Peter claims.

Tickets, at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, are available at the college's Community Services Office, 44 E. Latimer ave.

Call 379-9415 for information.

HERO NEEDS MORE SPACE

An 8-month-old male German Shepherd needs a family with lots of space, not the apartment dwellers he's living with now. His owner Jim will give "Hero" away free to a good home where the gentle, housebroken pup will have more room — and more company. Hero is a purebred, housebroken "jumper" who's had all his shots. Call Jim at 379-4720 in the early morning, or write P.O. Box 1844, Los Gatos, California, if you have the right home for "Hero."

'BIGFOOT' WANTS TO GO HOME

A very large black and dark brown mottled male puppy was found Thursday, March 31, in the Pruneyard area between Bascom and Leigh avenues. "He looks like a cross between a German Shepherd and a Labrador and has VERY big feet," says the finder. "He's bigger than my other two dogs combined and looks like he's going to get bigger." He's wearing a flea collar and "is a great dog who just loves to play." They'd like to keep him, but haven't room for three dogs. Call 377-5062 if this sounds like your pup.

LOOKS LIKE AN IRISH SETTER

A medium-sized Labrador Retreiver and Irish Setter mix has to part company with her family because one of the children is allergic to her. The year-old spayed female is used to living outside in her dog house and is an excellent watch dog. Call the Corkery family at 866-1527 if you have a home for their pet.

"WE MISS HIM SO MUCH"

Tarkiss, a Labrador and Shepherd mix, has been missing for several weeks now, but his family is still visiting the pound daily to see if he's been found. the pure black year old male jumped out of their car while they were shopping at Westgate on February 17. He was wearing a black leather collar with silver studs. If some good Samaritan has been caring for Tarkiss all this time, he can now locate the owner by calling 374-8544. They are offering a reward.

LITTLE SHAGGY DOG FOUND

A female dog, white with black markings, was found Saturday, April 2, at the Rolling Hills Shopping Center. "She looks like a Lhasa Apso," says the woman who took the pup in so that she wouldn't get hit by a car, "but she could be some other kind of small shaggy dog." 379-0687.

ENGAGED in a playful romp with his two St. Bernards, Bertha and Waldo, is recently elected Campbell high school district trustee Craig Smith. Smith's campaign

How to get elected on less than $1.00

By PAT SAFFORD

CRAIG SMITH did it all wrong. First, he didn't seek endorsements from influential people in his race for a seat on the Campbell Union High School District board. He didn't campaign heavily, didn't have pamphlets printed up and spent under $1 during the race (that was the 60 cents he paid to get a copy of other candidates' statements).

But when the votes cleared the 30 year old San Jose police officer came out as the top vote getter in a race which saw one incumbant beaten and a recently appointed board member squeak into office with an 8-vote majority.

Why? "First, I think my occupation helped," Smith said last week. A second reason, according to observors, was his impressive candidate's statement.

AND THE baby-faced, bearded trustee doesn't fit the stereotype of a school board member in other ways either. First, he and his wife Nancy, have no children in the district (their family group includes two St. Bernard's), Smith's life is full of excitement on the job as a plain clothed cop in the fugitive division and tranquility on the home front (he likes skiing and backpacking and is currently taking a cake decorating class at West Valley College.)

So why did he run? "I don't like to sit still," the new trustee declared. "I like to be involved in things."

Smith, who was sworn in at yesterday's special board meeting, has two special concerns he'd like to deal with during his stint on the board; making sure students have mastered "the basics" before they graduate and violence on campus.

THE RECENTLY enacted Hart Bill will go a long way to help make sure graduating seniors have some proficiency in math, reading and writing, but Smith doesn't think it goes far enough. "All they need to do is show an eighth or ninth grade proficiency," he related, "and I don't think enough subject areas are covered either." He'd like to see tests in the social sciences and government added.

A possible solution to Smith's second concern lies with students themselves. "The main thing you have going for you (in high schools) is peer pressure. If you have to bring in outsiders, it's not good." The new trustee would like to see schools set up their own student-run disciplinary boards to handle offenders.

"I'd like to see students receive more of the responsibility," Smith added.

DURING HIS own school days in Idaho, Smith's favorite subjects were social science and math (he was an honors student). "But when it came to English, particularly grammar, that was torture."

A former football player (both high school and college), Smith holds a bachelor's degree in business administration, is working towards his master's in public administration, holds a California teaching credential and is a Lt. J.G. in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve. And he almost went into the practice of law.

"I was going to law school evenings and needed a job," Smith says of his venture into police work in 1970. "I thought it would be good experience and it was exciting." So exciting, in fact, that he later dropped his law studies to make police work his career.

FOR A LITTLE over a year Smith has been assigned to the fugitive division of San Jose P.D. which means serving warrants and making arrests for suspects charged with more serious offenses (no traffic ticket violators, for instance). Smith, and his partner Karl Kleman, spend a lot of time flying out of town to pick up fugitives, who he says are often happy to get back to San Jose and a decent jail. "You should see some of the jails in the small towns we visit," Smith laughed.

He's also formed the opinion that it's easier to arrest men than women. "Women are much harder," Smith related. "They cry first and (when that doesn't work) they start fighting. They think you won't hit a woman." The "water works" won't work on a warrant arrest, Smith explained, but it can be effective for getting out of a traffic ticket. As for the fighting, all the suspect gets is another charge, assault on a police officer, added to the list.

Smith admits that police officers have come in for stereotyping and criticism from some circles but says their strongest critics aren't among high school or college students or the low income population. "Police have the most trouble with people in the high rent districts," he declared.

POLICE TEND to band together socially and "talk shop" and Smith feels this self-isolation from the rest of the community can change an officer's attitude. "The only time we see people," he explained, "is when there's trouble."

One way Smith counteracts this is serving off-duty as a tour guide. Another is his hobbies and, now, his school district duties.

First thing Smith did after the election was visit the district office and ask for a list of the administrators. He also said he's planning to visit all the schools. The trustee said Superintendent Nicholas Montesano offered to take Smith on a tour of the local campuses, but he declined.

"I want to learn things for myself," he explained.

At his first board meeting Smith plans to make a suggestion on election of board officers and has contacted other trustees to try and get their support. "I'd like to see the officers rotate every year," he explained.

Smith says he has no future ambitions at least for the present. But he bears watching.

"Ever since I was a kid I wanted to be president," he related.

Center gets a narrow victory

Final approval was given for a neighborhood shopping center at 655 Hacienda ave. on a split City Council vote.

The proposal by K. Armann drew much criticism from surrounding residents when first proposed and had two hearings before the Planning Commission. The proposal meets with the city's General Plan for the area but residents cited possible traffic hazards and no need for additional shopping in appearances before the Council and the Commission.

The vote for second reading and adaption of the ordinance passed with Councilmen Dean Chamberlin, Ralph Doetsch and Norm Paul in favor. Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Councilman Rusty Hammer were opposed.

Heat's still going up. Insulate.

The cost of heating a house is still going up. Hot air rises, too. That's why the attic is often where most home heat is lost. And your attic may be insulated, but inadequately, without your even knowing it. Insulating an attic to R-19, the recommended standard, can save up to 25% of your heat. And you'll be more comfortable.

In a typical California house it should cost about $300 to $400 if you get a qualified contractor to do it. Less if you do it yourself.

So send for our free insulation booklet. It tells you how to check whether your insulation is adequate, and if not, what to do.

PG&E wants to help you save energy and keep your bills from going out of sight.

Del Mar all alone in WVAL top spot

FOR THE FIRST time in the history of baseball at Del Mar high school, the Dons can take the week off for the Easter vacation break without worrying about getting back to the diamond the next week to chase the leaders in the West Valley Athletic League.

The Dons don't have to worry about chasing the WVAL leaders next week because they are the leaders!

Del Mar is all alone in first place in the WVAL and coach Gary Cunningham and his Dons are enjoying their position.

"This is a super spot to be in," said Cunningham before the Easter break. "It's a new spot for us and we're going to enjoy it!"

"This is the best start ever for a Del Mar baseball team in league play," added the coach. "It's not just one guy, we have a team that's doing the job."

Del Mar leads the circuit with a 6-1 record, sitting just a half game ahead of Blackford at 5-1-1 and a full game ahead of Campbell at 5-2. Leigh is fourth but just a game and a half back at 4-2.

The Dons got off to a tough start on Monday, losing to Leigh 8-2 in extra innings. But Del Mar came back to nip a strong Prospect team 3-1 and an unbeaten Blackford nine 13-5.

"THE KIDS really rose to the occasion," said Cunningham. "We had our backs to the wall after losing to Leigh but the kids came back and did a heckuva job."

Jeff Blobaum fired a cool three hitter, fanning three and walking two, to lead the Dons to the win over Prospect. He fired just 84 pitches, 53 of them for strikes.

"It was an excellent effort," said Cunningham of Blobaum's performance, the Don running his record to 3-0. "He came out and threw BB's."

Tom 'Doc' Medica was two for two with a homer to lead the Dons to the win. Medica drove in two runs and was a key figure in the rally for the Dons' third run.

Eric Richesin walked and scored on a hit-and-run double by Medica down the first base line in the first.

In the third Craig Richesin dropped a drag bunt down the third base stripe for a hit and Jim Dorr bunted him to second. E. Richesin walked and Medica dropped a sacrifice bunt. C. Richesin kept running on the bunt and scored all the way from second.

Medica capped the Don scoring with his home run in the fifth innings. The Don slugger had 13 hits in his last six games.

Mark Intrieri doubled and Tom Bell, Yogi Taylor and Mike Rusconi each singled in the victory.

AGAINST THE Braves, Bell started on the hill for Del Mar and tossed three strong innings before getting touched for four runs in the fourth. Tom Harris came on and shut-out Blackford the rest of the way to pick up the win.

Rusconi was four for five with three runs-batted-in and two stolen bases and Medica was three for four with three rbi's, two doubles and three runs scored to lead the Dons. Both of them were on base five times in the game.

Taylor was two for five, scoring twice and knocking in two runs, and Dorr was two for four for DM. E. Richesin was one for three with three runs scored and Intrieri and C. Richesin each singled.

The Dons suffered a heartbreaking loss early in the week, losing 8-2 to Leigh when the Longhorns rallied for six runs in the top of the ninth.

Del Mar loaded the bases with no outs in the sixth but could manage just one run to tie the game 1-1.

In the seventh the Dons put a runner on third with just one out but couldn't score and in the eighth, after Leigh had scored, the Dons put runners on but could plate just one to tie when the Leigh third sacker turned an inning ending double-play.

Harris pitched well in the game for Del Mar, giving up just 10 hits, seven of them over the first eight innings. He fanned eight and walked five.

E. Richesin and Medica were each two for four for the Dons and Taylor, Intrieri and Dorr rounded out the bat attack with singles.

Bucs back in thick of race

CAMPBELL PULLED itself back into the thick of the pennant race last week with impressive back-to-back wins over the Leigh Longhorns and the Camden Cougars.

The Buccaneers opened the week by outscoring the Leigh Longhorns 9-6 at Leigh on Tuesday.

Leading 9-5 heading into the last of the sixth, Campbell starter Sean Sullivan got himself into a jam by loading the bases with no outs.

Mark Ortiz was summoned from the bullpen and promptly retired the next three batters in order on two fly outs (one scoring the runner from third) and a strike out.

Ortiz' performance proved to be a game saver as the contest was called due to darkness minutes later.

The hard hitting Longhorns held a 5-1 lead after just two innings of play. But Campbell came clawing back for two runs in the third and four more in the fourth.

Sullivan's two out, two run single in the third got Campbell on the comeback trail while Wes Mitchell's bases loaded triple in the fourth wound up being the game winning hit.

Sullivan added another two run single in the sixth for insurance purposes.

Campbell had an easier time of winning two days later when Cliff Judd and Ted Alcocer teammed to toss a one-hit shut-out against Camden, beating the Cougars 7-0.

JUDD HURLED the first five innings, allowing Camden's only hit while walking one and striking out nine. Alcocer tossed the final two innings, walking one and whiffing three.

The Cougars managed to hit just two balls out of the infield against the Buccaneer duo, a single and a fly out.

The Bucs, meanwhile, scored all of the runs they needed in the first inning on Mark Raust's bases loaded double, scoring Steve Tindall, Judd and Mitchell. Raust later scored on a Sullivan ground out.

Sullivan drove in another run in the third with a squeeze bunt, plating Mitchell.

After picking up a fourth inning run on a pair of errors, Campbell completed its scoring in the fifth when Mitchell singled and romped home on a triple by Raust.

Campbell's quest to become the first team ever to win the annual Easter Lion's tournament twice came to an end last Saturday when the Bucs were dealt a 6-3 setback by the Monta Vista Matadors.

Campbell, the tourney's 1972 champion, fell behind 5-0 at the end of three innings and was never able to recover.

Frank Giammona provided a bright spot on the day for Campbell by belting a home run.

Blackford fell from title contention, meanwhile, when it was blanked 6-0 by the Lincoln Lions in their second round match-up.

Blink of an eye 100 highlights San Jose Relays

FOR FOLKS who are planning to attend Saturday's San Jose Relays at the fast San Jose City College track just to see World Class sprinters vie in the 100 meters, here are two words of advice — don't blink!

One of the fastest groups ever assembled will take off this Saturday in the open 100 meters and the race promises to be as fast as a blink of the eye.

Houston McTear and Donald Quarrie are just two prominent names from the fast sprint field for the April 9 meet that is annually one of the best track get-togethers in the state.

The San Jose Relays is such a good meet, in fact, that even if the open 100 is lost to a blink, there's much more for any fan interested in seeing track at its best.

"In the 1976 meet there were 13 records broken in the junior college division and nine records broken in the high school division," said meet director Bert Bonanno. "This year's meet could even be better."

The meet "features the finest junior college and high school athletes in the state," added high school director Frank Olsen.

Olympic champ Quarrie will head the field in the open 100 and 200 with best times of 9.9 and 20.23, respectively.

McTEAR COULD be his strongest competition, with a 9.0 in the 100 yards and a 20.4 in the 200 meters. Rey Robinson is a late entry in the two events and will strengthen the field. Robinson is the co-holder of the American record in the 100 meters.

Guy Abrahams of Panama, fifth in the Montreal Olympic Games, will also join the field with a best of 10.1 in the 100 and 20.7 in the 200.

James Gilkes with bests of 10.1 and 20.5, Carl McCullough with bests of 10.1 and 20.7, Charlie Wells with bests of 10.2 and 20.5 and Derald Harris with a 200 best of 20.7 will also be in the San Jose Relay field.

Sunbirds look as good as ever in '77 opener

ALTHOUGH SOME of the name players have departed, the San Jose Sunbirds may still wind up as one of the top teams in the Women's Professional Softball League again this year.

Despite the abandonment of all-stars Charlotte Graham, Brenda Gamblin and Mary Lou Pennington, the Sunbirds looked better than ever recently when they opened their 1977 exhibition schedule against a talented Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo women's team.

Cal Poly, coached by Sunbird Val Felise, gave the pros a bit of a tussle before dropping a double-header by scores of 8-0 and 6-2.

But what pleased new Sunbird manager Gary Cunningham more than the scores were the performances of a couple of key newcomers, who are being counted on to fill the void left by Graham, Gamblin and Pennington.

Rayona Sharpnack, who will hopefully take up some of the slack for Graham on the Sunbird pitching staff, sparkled in her initial performance of the spring.

Sharpnack, who saw limited action with the now defunct Southern California Gems last season, combined with Sunbird ace Bonnie Johnson to toss a four-hit shut-out in the lidlifter of the twinbill.

After Johnson had two-hit Cal Poly through four innings, Sharpnack came on to complete the shut-out, walking none, fanning one and allowing just two hits.

DURING HER three inning stint, Sharpnack hurled 45 pitches, 27 finding the strike zone.

In addition to her excellent performance on the mound, Sharpnack also looked good at the plate, stroking a pair of hits and driving in a pair of runs.

Meanwhile, Sue Lindh looked like she might be able to make San Jose fans forget all about Gamblin with her sparkling play at third.

The view from behind an umpire's mask

Open letter to baseball fans

BEING A BASEBALL umpire is a thankless job. It ranks right up there with being a policeman.

As an umpire, only perfection is expected. Anything less is unacceptable.

Donald Jensen was a Little League umpire in Terre Haute, Indiana, and a good one. He wasn't perfect, by his own admission, but he tried hard. Nonetheless, whenever he made a mistake he was sure to hear about it from the fans. And if it wasn't the fans who voiced their opinions, it was one of the coaches. And when it wasn't the coaches, it was the players.

Jensen was umpiring a game last spring and was struck in the head by a thrown bat. He continued to work the game, but later that evening was placed in a hospital by a doctor.

WHILE BEING KEPT overnight for observation, Jensen wrote the following letter:

"Dear parent of a Little Leaguer,

I am an umpire. I don't do it for a living, but only on Saturdays and Sundays for fun.

. . .I've played the game, coached it and watched it. But somehow, nothing takes the place of umpiring. Maybe it's because I felt that deep down I'm providing a fair chance for all the kids to play the game without disagreements and arguments.

With all the fun I've had, there is still something that bothers me about my job . . . Some of you folks don't understand why I'm there. Some of you feel I'm there to exert authority over your son. For that reason, you often yell at me when I make a mistake, or encourage your son to say things that may hurt my feelings.

How many of you really understand that I try to be perfect? I try to not make a mistake. I don't want your son to feel he got a bad deal from an umpire.

Yet no matter how hard I try, I can't be perfect. I counted the number of calls I made in a six inning game today. The total number of decisions, whether on ball and strikes or safes and outs, was 146.

I tried my best to get them all right, but I'm sure I missed some. When I figured out my percentage on paper, I could have missed eight calls today and still got about 95 per cent of the calls . . . in most occupations that percentage would be considered excellent. If I were in school, that grade would receive an 'A' for sure.

But your demands are higher than that. Let me tell you more about my game today.

. . . There was one real close call that ended the game . . . a runner for the home team was trying to steal the plate on a passed ball. The catcher chased the ball down and threw to the pitcher covering the plate. The pitcher made the tag and I called the runner out.

AS I WAS getting my equipment to leave I overheard one of the parents comment, 'It's too bad the kids have to lose games because of rotten umpires. That was one of the lousiest calls I've ever seen.'

Later, at the concession stand, a couple of the kids were telling their friends, 'Boy, the umpires were lousy today. They lost the game for us.'

I felt just terrible when I got home. Here was a group of kids who had made a lot of mistakes, which had cost them a number of runs.

The purpose of Little League is to teach baseball skills to young men. Obviously, a team which does not play well in a given game, yet is given the opportunity to blame that loss on an umpire for one call or two, is being given the chance to take all responsibility for the loss from their shoulders.

A parent or adult leader who permits the younger player to blame his failures on an umpire, regardless of the quality of that umpire, is doing the worst kind of injustice to that youngster . . . Rather than learning responsibility, such an attitude is fostering an improper outlook toward the ideals of the game itself. This irresponsibility is bound to carry over to future years.

As I sit here writing this letter I am no longer as upset as I was this afternoon. I wanted to quit umpiring. But, fortunately, my wife reminded me of another situation that occurred last week.

I was umpiring behind the plate for a pitcher who pantomimed his displeasure at any call on a borderline pitch that was not in his team's favor. One could sense that he wanted the crowd to realize that he was a fine talented player who was doing his best to get along, but that I was a black-hearted villain who was working against him.

THIS KID continued for two innings . . . while at the time yelling at his own players who dared to make a mistake. For two innings, the manager watched this. When the kid returned to the dugout to bat in the top of the third, the manager called him aside.

In a loud enough voice that I was able to overhear, the lecture went like this, 'Listen son, it is time you make a decision. You can be an umpire, an actor or a pitcher. But you can only be one at a time when you are playing for me. Right now it is your job to pitch. And, you are basically doing a lousy job.'

Needless to say, the kid chose the pitching route and went on to win the game. When the game was over the kid followed me to my car. Fighting his hardest to keep back the tears, he apologized for his actions and thanked me for umpiring his game. He said he learned a lesson that he would never forget.

I can't help but wonder . . . how many more fine young men are missing their chance to develop into outstanding ballplayers because their parents encourage them to spend time umpiring, rather than working harder to play the game as it should be played."

The following morning, Donald Jensen died of a brain concussion. (The preceding open letter appeared last year in the Watertown, South Dakota Public Opinion newspaper.)

Lipton win keys Brave victory

SCOTT LIPTON defeated his number one singles foe in straight sets 6-2, 6-3 to pace the Blackford Braves to a 5-2 triumph over the Branham Braves last week in West Valley Athletic League tennis action.

Earlier in the week the Braves crushed Del Mar 6-1. Del Mar bounced back to nip Prospect 4-3. Steve Brooks of Del Mar topped Bob Holt in the number one singles match 6-2, 6-3.

The Branham Bruins, meanwhile, whipped Westmont 6-1. Branham's Mike Smith had to go to three sets to defeat Mica Rosenheim in number one singles play; 6-4, 6-7, 6-3.

Oravetz heads Vike group at SJ Relays

TRACK

National Junior College pole vault record holder Steve Oravetz (Campbell) will lead the West Valley College contingent this Saturday at the prestigious San Jose Relays at the San Jose City College track.

Oravetz, who set the National JC mark in the event at 17'1" a few weeks ago, will get some stiff competition at the meet from Charlie Brown of El Camino, who has already cleared 16'10" this year.

Oravetz is unbeaten on the year in his specialty, finishing first at the Diablo Valley Relays last weekend with a new meet record at 16'6" and a week before finishing first at the Santa Barbara Relays.

Oravetz will be joined at the Relays on Saturday by vaulters Doug Searle (Camden), Rick Vasquez (Camden) and Jerry Mulligan, javelin throwers Tony Abate (Lincoln) and Ross Parish (Westmont), two milers Bob Paulin (Camden) and Armando Lagunes (Wilcox) and steeplechaser Dale Dewhitt.

BASEBALL

The Vikings suffered through a pair of Golden Gate Conference losses last week, falling 15-5 to Foothill and losing a 5-4 heartbreaker to Diablo Valley.

The losses dropped West Valley from second place in the conference all the way to fourth, a game out of second and two and half games out of first.

Russ Hayslip (Campbell) was tagged with the heartbreaking loss against Diablo Valley last week despite throwing a neat five hitter.

Dennis Mork (Wilcox) was five for eight in the two games last week to keep up his torrid hitting pace. Mork raised his average from .512 in GGC play to a conference leading .531.

Mark Espinoza (Camden) was five for 10 in the two games for WVC and Joe Von Schriltz (Wilcox) was four for six. Ted Soza (Oak Grove), Jim Jensen (Camden), Keith Fisher (Branham), Mickey Rose (Camden) and Duke Triplett (Branham) were other top hitters on the week for the Vikes.

SWIMMING

Lance Michaelis, Dave Hendrickson and Bob Mangan, all three products of Santa Clara high, will head to the National AAU Indoor swimming and diving championships this weekend while the rest of the Viking swimmers remain home to host Cypress and San Joaquin Delta Friday at 11 a.m. in a double dual meet.

MEN'S TENNIS

Mark Friedman (Buchser) and Carlos Fuentes (Branham) took a big stride towards ranking themselves as the top JC doubles team in the state last week but West Valley fell to Canada 6-3.

Friedman and Fuentes won their important doubles match against a strong Colt pair easily 6-1, 6-1.

Fuentes and Shozo Shiraishi also won singles bouts against Canada for the Vikes.

A day later WVC ran its league record to 5-0 with an easy 9-0 win over San Francisco. Friedman, David Smith, Shiraishi, Scott Graham (Saratoga), Merle Heggulend (Buchser) and Mark Elices (Santa Clara) won in singles play and Smith and Friedman, Shiraishi and Graham and Heggulend and Tom Hays (Del Mar) won doubles matches.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

Sue Kinsell (Camden) whirled a pair of shut-outs last week to help the Viking women's softball up its conference record to 5-0.

Kinsell threw three hitters to lead WVC to 11-0 wins over both Cabrillo and San Jose City College. Kim Bowles (Pioneer), Jeanne Wilde (Branham), Pam Goldsborough (Willow Glen), Kinsell, Cathy Guiterrez (Branham), Sue Webb (Silver Creek) and Kelly Smithwick (Cupertino) led the bat attack.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

The Viking women's tennis team dropped a pair of conference matches by 6-3 decisions last week, losing to Menlo and Monterey.

WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS

The WVC women's gymnastics team will host a Women's Gymnastic Clinic on Saturday, April 16, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the college. The clinic, open to elementary through college students, will cost $2 per gymnast (in advance) or $2.50 at the door.

UNDEFEATED DIVER — Herb Brandt, a graduate of Del Mar high school, is undefeated this year as a diver at West Valley College. Brandt will lead the Vikings against San Joaquin Delta and Cyprus Friday at 11 a.m. at WVC.

Cream of softball crop makes finals

JUST THE CREAM of the Santa Clara County softball crop remained last weekend when tournament winners converged at Central Park in Santa Clara for the championship round of the SANCRA pre-season soft-ball tournament.

Bracket champs and consolation winners from five area tournaments qualified for the championship weekend of the SANCRA (Sports Association of Northern California Recreation Agencies) tourney.

Teams that qualified for the second weekend of the tournament included Beltran's Marauders, ABT and IBC of Milpitas; SCVMC, Mohawk Packing Company, Dubois Chemicals, Bill's College Pharmacy, Luigis Almaden and Round Table Pizza #3 of San Jose; Abcus Electronics of Mt. View; Rhonda Valley Lounge and Pure and Simple of Sunnyvale; the Farkles of Santa Clara; Johnny's Sport Shop of Santa Cruz; and Aydin of Palo Alto.

There were 73 teams entered in the event the first weekend and 15 qualified for play the second weekend.

Last year there were just 40 teams entered in the SANCRA pre-season event, the registration nearly doubling this season.

Warrior swimmers still share first with 'Cats

THE WESTMONT WARRIOR swim squad retained a share of first place in the West Valley Athletic League last week by swamping the Campbell Buccaneers and Camden Cougars within a span of four days.

The back-to-back triumphs raised Westmont's WVAL record to 5-0, keeping the Warriors in a first place tie with the unbeaten Los Gatos Wildcats.

The Warriors, who are 7-0 overall this season, meet Los Gatos Thursday, April 14, in the Wildcats' pool for what should be the league title decider.

Westmont swims against the Leigh Longhorns Tuesday, April 12, at Leigh. Both meets are set to start at 3 p.m.

Bill Zirzow spearheaded Westmont's effort against Campbell last Tuesday, a meet the Warriors won going away, 103-69.

Zirzow nabbed individual wins in the 200 free (1:53.1) and 100 fly (58.5) in addition to teaming with Mark Christiansen, Tom Boese and Jeff Culp to finish second in the medley relay (1:48.5).

OTHER INDIVIDUAL winners on the day for the Warriors included Bill Brandenberg in the 200 IM (2:10.3), Christiansen in the 50 free (24.0), Joe Kammerer in the one meter dive (240.20), Brian Kelly in the 100 free (54.2), Jeff Holshevnikoff in the 500 free (5:02.4) and Culp in the 100 breast (1:04.4).

Christiansen, Holshenikoff, Kelly and Greg Pluckham combined to win the 400 free relay in 3:35.4.

Nailing down seconds for Westmont were Boese in the IM (2:12.7) and 100 back (1:02.0), Holshevnikoff in the 200 free (1:54.3), Mark Diaz in the one meter dive (200.20) and Brandenberg in the 100 breast (1:06.6).

Zirzow and Boese were the main catalysts in the Warrior's 115½-55½ drowning of Camden three days later.

Zirzow posted wins in the 100 fly (1:00) and 500 (5:01.3) while Boese was notching victories in the 200 IM (2:13.2) and 100 back (1:01.6).

Others bagging firsts included Holshevnikoff in the 200 free (1:55.2), Brandenberg in the 50 free (24.0), Diaz in the one meter dive (182.40), Kelly in the 100 free (53.6) and Culp in the 100 breast (1:05.5).

Boese, Culp, Zirzow and Pluckham joined forces to win the medley relay in 1:49.2.

Picking up seconds for the victors were Gary Dalley in the IM (2:14.4) and back (1:06), Kelly in the 200 free (1:56), Otto Leidreiter in the one meter dive (154.65), Chris Soule in the 500 (5:15.4) and Brandenberg in the breast (1:08.4).

Dalley, Brandenberg, Kevin Penning and Nate Laskin teamed to finish second in the medley relay (1:53.2) while Pluckham, Holshevnikoff, Laskin and Kelly combined for a second in the free relay (3:37.3).

Kammerer was the champion recently at the third annual Westmont diving invitational, racking up 393.25 points off the one meter dive to nose out his teammate Diaz, who rang up 388.90 points. Leidreiter, the Warriors' number three diver, turned in a strong 11th place effort with a 299.80 point total.

Piedmont Hills' Craig Stauffer, last year's champ, came in third.

Saturday, the West Valley Athletic League relays will be held at Prospect high school beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Lowe fires 73 in link play

RANDY LOWE fired a sizzling 73 to pace the Camden Cougar golf team to an 18-6 triumph over the Westmont Warriors last week in West Valley Athletic League link action.

GOV. APPROVES SALT WATER FOR SWIMMING POOLS

FREMONT, CA.—New FILTER enables swimming pool owners to use salt water right out of the Bay. This ingenious idea was developed in anticipation of our present drought and water rationing situation. Most pool and supply dealers in the Bay Area can give you details on how it works. One company representative states "Salt water does not work well with gunite and plastered pools." Mr. Gary Knittel of Geni Pools, Inc. states that "Salt water does not leave a curd or algae residue on swimming pools made of vinyl liners or fiberglass." Fresh water is still available for pools.

EXOTIC ANIMALS MISSING

If you should see two flowerback turtles in the company of a 4-foot boa constrictor, Bishops Pet Center, 1735 S. Winchester blvd. would like to hear from you.

Last week owner Greg Bishop reported the three, valued at $370, missing from his new pet shop.

ILLEGIBLE ROBBER

Police are seeking a man accused of holding up the Freedom Flower Works at 747 W. Hamilton ave. last Wednesday and escaping with a small amount of cash. In addition to the usual physical description, police have an additional bit of identification; messy handwriting.

According to reports, the man approached the young clerk and handed her a note. Unable to read it, she asked what it said, and was told to hand over the money or else.

NO APRIL FOOL'S JOKE

A gunman held up the Delta Queen Car Wash on Hamilton ave. last Friday, escaping with the day's receipts.

He fled on foot north towards Bascom ave.

PAPER BOYS ROBBED

Four suspects, including three juveniles, were in custody last week after they reportedly held up three newspaper carriers at knifepoint in the parking lot of the San Tomas Plaza last Thursday as the boys were folding their papers.

According to reports, a vehicle pulled into the parking lot and two suspects threatened the boys while two others remained in the car.

They first asked for cigarettes and, when told the boys didn't have any, asked for matches. When one of the victims said he'd run into a nearby restaurant to get them some matches the pair reportedly demanded money. All three told the suspects they had no cash and the suspects settled for taking their coats and one boy's empty wallet.

The victims obtained the license number of the car and all four, including a 15-year-old girl reportedly driving the car, were later picked up on charges of armed robbery.

SCHOOL ROBBED

San Tomas School, 1510 Hacienda, was reportedly broken into last week and a casette tape player stolen from the teacher's lounge.

DRUG STORE HIT

Campbell Drugs, 1739 Winchester blvd., was reportedly broken into last Saturday and $661 in drugs stolen.

But the culprits left a few things behind. Like their burglary tools and a cap.

FRONT DOOR JOB

A home on Budd ave. was broken into last weekend and owners returned to find stereo equipment and a TV and jewelry valued at $1,225 missing.

According to reports, the robbers made their entry by breaking in the front door. No one observed the incident.

STORAGE SHEDS BROKEN INTO

Fourteen separate storage sheds at 509 Salmar ave. were reportedly broken into over the weekend but total loss, so far, was listed as $700 for furniture and tools in one of the storage areas.

CAMPER STOLEN

A San Jose man left his camper stored in a sales lot at 2105 S. Bascom ave. last September and returned last week to find it missing.

According to reports the camper was up on blocks and disappeared sometime in the last eight months.

Total value of the loss was estimated at $3,700.

A free nursery school

The price is right for a month-long nursery school being offered at Campbell High School by members of the child development classes.

Free to pre-schoolers age 2 years and 9 months through 5, the three times a week class begains May 2.

The morning class will be filled on a first come-first served basis.

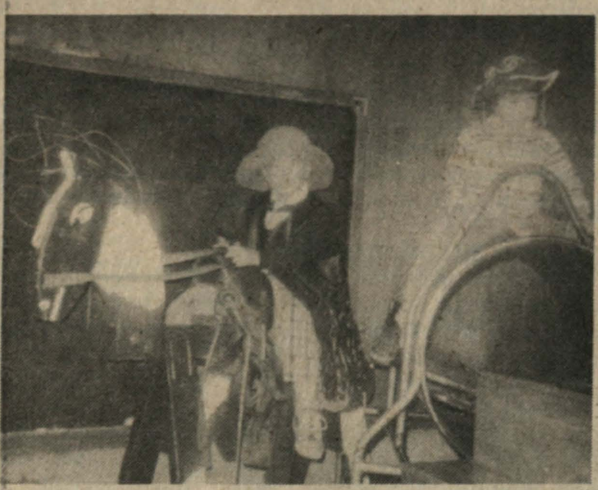
STRONG advocates of playtime, from left, Brett Carlson, Ian Holley and Paul Nichols give the equipment a good workout at the Campbell United Methodist Parents' Preschool. Open house will be held at the 1675 Winchester blvd. center on Wednesday morning, April 13.



SADDLED UP for some fun at the Campbell Parents Nursery School are, from left, Jeff Weitzel and Steven Scherbinski. Open house will be held at the 528 N. Harrison school this Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 12, 13 and 14.

Pre-schools plan annual open houses

April is the Month of the Young Child and two local parent's cooperative pre-schools will be celebrating it in style with an open house.

Campbell Parents Nursery School, 528 N. Harrison, will have two morning open houses on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 12 and 13 from 9:30 to 11 and one afternoon visiting time on Thursday, April 14 from 1 to 5 p.m.

At Campbell United Methodist Parent's Pre-school, 1675 Winchester blvd., open house will be on Wednesday, April 13 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Both schools offer classes for two, three, four and five year olds. Youngsters take part in arts and science projects, cooking, painting, movement exploration, music, sharing, story time and field trips.

The pre-schools are staffed, administered and financed by parents of the children who attend. Each school has a full time director who supervises the parent volunteers, plans creative projects and field trips and works with the children individually and in groups.

All interested parents are invited to bring their children and see a cooperative pre-school in action on open house days. Hostesses will be on hand to explain the program and tour the facilities.

For more information call the Campbell Parents group at 378-4592 or Campbell United Methodist at 255-4158.

Aquari must maintain cool

April 9 — April 15

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Don't hesitate to confide your feelings concerning private matter. It's not nearly as late as you may think, Ari. Before week is complete, your personal world warms considerably. How nice.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Problem is presented which has no easy solution. Time is your ally, Taurus. Start using that great untapped resource under your hat. Week ends on key of A for angst.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): One who is less intellectually inclined may have the solution to one of your very personal problems. Intellect isn't all, dear Gem, and quite frankly, aren't you glad?

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Mood changes highlighted. You run the gamut from sheer euphoria to the bad, broody blues. In spite of the lilacs, April is still the cruelest month of all. Old longings return along with half-forgotten memories. Week ends with a sigh.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Action is followed by change. Use your bean, Leo, and change can be of positive nature. If local pinhead tries your patience, put on your headphones and tune him out. Week ends on key of A, for All That Jazz.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): To better understand current situation, Virgo, you must be willing to face reality. Often it is easier to swallow blatant lie than trust your own common sense. Don't take easy route. Dig for data.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Personal puzzle needs attention. One who can help has already posted sign (with little arrows) toward possible solution. Read and heed. Week closes on key of D, for do, dial, and daffodil.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Truth presents itself in unusual fashion. Rather than intellectual truth, look instead for spiritual or perhaps psychic truth which cannot be explained in routine way. Believe in your tomorrows, Scorp. Week ends on happy note.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Problem may arise with one who sashays about under the sign of Scorpio. If not careful, you enter emotional labyrinth unwittingly. Hold off on long-term commitments at this time. On last day kick off your sneakers and tiptoe through the tulips.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Push-pull week ahead, Cap. One who covets must be watched. To protect that which you hold most dear you may have to build a fence of pointed little warnings. Week ends with a holler.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Power, sanity and checkbook all hang in the balance you must maintain. Aries is in picture. Bash out overdue letters, reports, checks. On last day, Aquari my love, curl up with a good book. Or whatever.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You and Sweetie have things to say to each other and you couldn't ask for a better week to get dialogue going. If you give a hoot, Pisces, lover will give a holler. And then some.
